

Abstract

A secretory or membrane-binding chimeric protein composed of an energy-generating protein and an energy-receiving protein linked one another wherein energy transfer can arise 5 between the energy-generating protein and the energy-receiving protein.